Benefits cheat couple made £450k selling pirated DVDs

Report by Danielle Thompson

A COUPLE who made almost £500,000 from pirated DVDs while claiming £70,000 in benefits have been convicted.

Father–of–three Lester Hawkes, 58, was sentenced to three years and 10 months in prison on Friday (July 12) after pleading guilty to two counts of the supply and sale of copyright and patented articles, two counts of money laundering and five counts of benefit fraud.

He received three years imprisonment for the supply and sale of copyright and patented articles and the money laundering, and 10 months, to run consecutively, for the benefit fraud.

His wife, Pauline, 53, received a 21–month sentence, suspended for two years, after pleading guilty to two counts of money laundering and five counts of benefit fraud.

She received 15 months for the money laundering and six months for the benefit fraud, to run consecutively. Two counts of the supply and sale of copyright and patented articles will lie on her file.

The unemployed couple, from Drummersdale Lane, Scarisbrick, made £460,000 over five years and had stock hidden all over the house with a value of £1.2million.

They kept more than 5,000 'master discs', each containing up to 2,000 tracks, under a secret trapdoor in the hallway and copied discs using 18 DVD burners.

Their websites, Flying Warlocks, Wizard and Misty, sold all the popular films out at the time, music albums, and Xbox games and pornographic films and users paid a monthly £10 membership fee.

School tells footy team for players with mental disablilities to pay pitch fees or be kicked off

A FOOTBALL team for adults with learning disabilities could be booted off their home ground on a school playing field unless they start paying to use the pitch.

Skem Men–aces have been playing at Glenburn Sports College, Skelmersdale since 2009 but had their training session interrupted last week when an official from Activ8, which looks after community facilties at the school, told them they would have to stop using the site unless they started paying a fee.

Activ8 say teams need to book and pay a charge in order to be insured and are willing to discuss setting an appropriate charge for them. But Skem Men–aces manager, Carl Eaton, plans to continue to use the site for free until

Don't let burglars make hay while the sun shines

Report by Danielle Thompson

When temperatures rise so do break–ins, warn police

THE recent spell of hot weather has prompted a reminder from police for residents to be on their guard against burglars.

With people increasingly tempted to keep house and car doors and windows open when the temperatures rise, police often report a corresponding rise in burglaries – sometimes of sentimental, irreplaceable items.

Officers will be patrolling neighbourhoods offering crime prevention advice and handing out leaflets to residents in hot–spot areas.

They are warning residents to keep doors and windows locked and report anything suspicious.

Detective Inspector Vinnie De Curtis said: "We tend to see a seasonal rise in burglary and theft during the summer months due to people leaving their windows open as they go to bed at night.

"An open window or door can often be an invitation to thieves who are then able to get into people's homes without causing a disturbance.

"This isn't just about reducing burglary. It's about reducing the upset and distress that comes with having a stranger in your home ransacking your private things and taking not only your valuables but items that are very personal and irreplaceable.

INSECURE

"The same message applies to cars – remove valuables from the car and get rid of any signs – such as suction marks on the windscreen or MP3 cables – that show that valuables have been in the car as a thief may assume you have stored them in the glove box.

"People who do leave their cars insecure also risk invalidating their insurance as some companies may refuse to pay out if people have left them unlocked.

"I urge local residents to be extra–vigilant over the summer months and to report anything suspicious."

Police have issued the following advice to avoid being burgled:

• If windows are open keep them on the latch so that they cannot be opened further from outside.

• Fit a door chain and use it whenever you answer the door to an unexpected caller.

• Side gates should be kept locked.

• Use a strong lock on sheds, garages and outbuildings and consider fitting outdoor security lighting.

• Keep an eye on neighbouring properties and if you see anything suspicious contact police.

Anyone with information or concerns can contact police on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Pride of place for United's trophies

SKELMERSDALE United's trophies from a memorable season in 2012/13 got an outing against the very best, ahead of Skelmersdale United clash against a Manchester United XI next week, when they took pride of place alongside the FA Premier League winners and FA Cup at the recent Lancashire FA annual general meeting in Leyland.

Pictured are the FA Premier League trophy (won by Manchester United) the Evo–Stik Division One North winner's trophy (won by Skelmersdale United), the FA Cup (won by Wigan Athletic) and the Peter Swailes Memorial Shield (won by Skelmersdale United). Disabled couple suffer yob 'terror campaign'

Report by Danielle Thompson

A DISABLED couple are being subjected to a terror campaign by yobs and are now scared to leave their house in Skelmersdale.

Mark and Kathryn Wielding say that since Christmas they have not felt safe in their own home after having had their windows smashed several times and graffiti sprayed on the walls of their property in Lambourne.

In the most recent incident, the front downstairs windows were shattered just late on Wednesday, July 10.

Mr Wielding, 46, says it is particularly upsetting as he is being treated for a type of blood cancer while his wife has multiple sclerosis.

He said: "I am exhausted with this and it's the last thing I need on top of my cancer treatment.

"We have been victimised now for two years but it is getting more serious.

"Recently someone smashed the windows in with a crowbar.

"There are children walking to school past my house – and sometimes the graffiti has been obscene and disgusting and I don't want them exposed to that.

"This non–stop war is driving me to a breakdown, this is no way to live."

He is now appealing for the community to support them and help police catch the culprits.

He added: "We haven't done anything wrong and we're being attacked in our own home."

His wife Kathryn, 49, said: "We are scared to go out of the house, we are worse than prisoners in our own home as we are attacked here as well."

Lancashire Police are investigating reports of criminal damage at the address.

Skem Men–aces face being booted off home ground the team are physically removed. He said: "I am refusing to pay any charge. This definitely is a kick in the teeth and it is the first time a charge has been mentioned.

"The team will continue to use the field. They are going to have to physically remove us and carry us from the field.

"There is nowhere else for us to go."

There are over 40 adults with learning disabilities involved in Skem Men–aces aged from 18 to 50. The majority are from Skelmersdale and the team will be taking part in a Special Olympics event in August.

"The adults come from seriously deprived backgrounds and the team is the only involvement they have in their life," Carl added.

"It seems that the school thinks that profit comes before this.

"The club has been a lifeline for the adults.

"They were quite distressed after the session and they asked is Skem Men–aces closing."

The team train on the field at Glenburn twice a week, on a Thursday from 6pm–8pm and from Sunday from 3pm till 5pm, and also play their matches on the site.

He says the school told him the field is getting cut up with extensive use, but he says it is in good condition and added: "What about the damage motorbikes cause on there?"

He added: "There are not even any toilet facilities here and yet they want to charge us for using the facility.

"The school could at least have come to me formally and sent me a letter."

James Harris, headteacher at Glenburn Sports College, said it was important that all teams using the facility booked the pitches in the correct manner.

He said: "Glenburn's fields are managed by Activ8, the community facilities part of Glenburn Sports College, and they are not an open public space.

"They are used by the school during the day and are managed by Activ8 during the evening and at weekends.

"Glenburn's facilities are booked through Activ8 so that customers benefit from public liability insurance and so that we are able to maintain the pitches and other facilities to the highest possible standard.

"We are the home ground, for example, for several local football teams esuch as Skelmersdale United Youth teams, Digmoor FC and Up Holland Rangers.

"While we understand that the fields are not fenced it is important to realise that for the above reasons open access to the facilities is not available and bookings need to be made in the correct manner.

"We would not discriminate against any group and, indeed, we would encourage the use of our facilities by as many groups from the local community as possible."

'Suspicious man' warning in Beacon Park

A COUPLE are warning residents to be on their guard when visiting a popular local park after seeing a man acting suspiciously in the trees near Beacon Park Golf Club in Up Holland.

Lois Woods and Andrew McMaster, from Old Skelmersdale, were having a barbecue in Beacon Country Park on land by the golf club car park at around 3.30pm on Thursday, July 4 when they spotted a man in the trees with his hands down his trousers.

Mr McMaster said: "We heard a rustling in the bushes and saw the man. His shirt was undone. We went to approach him, but he ran away.

"I have heard a number of incidents of a similar nature and I'd like to warn and children on their own could be vulnerable up there."

The Champion recently reported how a 'flasher' had been spotted near to the tee of the fifth hole at Beacon Park Golf Club.

Stay safe message to cyclists

POLICE will be speaking to cyclists as part of a drive to help them stay safe on Lancashire's roads.

Road policing officers will be giving advice on appropriate safety clothing and how to cycle safely.

Officers will also take action against cyclists committing offences, such as not having lights fitted, cycling on footpaths and using mobile phones when riding.

Chief Insp Debbie Howard from the Road Policing Unit said: "We police the roads of Lancashire day–in, day–out but this activity is about raising awareness of the need for motorists to look out for cyclists as well as the need for cyclists to ride safely at all times.

"Despite falling trends, the proportion of casualties which cyclists account for is an increasing one and this action is about making the roads as safe as possible for everyone."

Daunting charity tasks are child's play for Pauline

Report by Henry James

Her efforts have raised more than £4,000 for worthy causes to date

THE stresses and strains of daily life are more than enough for most people, never mind falling from an aeroplane at 10,000 feet or abseiling down buildings!

But those are just some of the tasks that charity fundraiser, Pauline O'Regan has completed in her constant efforts on behalf of worthy causes, particularly children's charities.

The 43–year–old employee at 06 Vauxhall in Ormskirk and Skelmersdale, has already raised more than £4,000 for a number of charities, including Cystic Fibrosis, Kidscan and Mencap.

To date, the company accountant and Manchester–based fitness fanatic has run hundreds of miles all in the name of charity good causes.

6am fitness runs and weekly boot camp sessions are par for the course for Pauline who, over the years, has relentlessly scaled great heights and travelled great lengths to raise money for life–changing charities.

Pauline commented: "Raising money for children's charities is very important to me and I would like to thank everyone who has supported me and helped make it all worthwhile."

John Dickson, managing director at 06 Vauxhall and fellow running and fundraising enthusiast, added: "We are immensely proud of Pauline's fundraising efforts.

"She has incredible willpower and is looking for new ways to raise money for children's charities on a daily basis. We are all very proud of her and will always be there to support her future fundraising endeavours.

"On behalf of 06 Vauxhall, I'd like to take this opportunity to praise Pauline for her efforts, she really is a local treasure."

Public invited to attend NHS clinical commissioning group meeting

THE local healthcare organisation, NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG), is to hold its next board (governing body) meeting in public at Tanhouse Community Centre, Skelmersdale.

Members of the community are welcome to attend to observe the board meeting which start at 9.30am on Tuesday, July 23.

Questions relating to items on the agenda, which is published one week prior to the meeting, can also be raised by visiting the website or by contacting 01695 588144 by noon on Monday, July 22.

There is also the opportunity for attendees to have an informal discussion with some of the board members following the closure of the meeting.

A spokesperson for NHS West Lancashire CCG, said: "Our board meetings are held in public and we are committed, where possible, to holding these in and around the community.

"As a public organisation, it is vital that we meet with individuals and groups from our local community, and as such, have added in an opportunity for a brief informal gathering at the closure of the meeting for those who have attended. This gives our board members the chance to hear first–hand from those living and working in West Lancashire and listen to their views."

Anyone wishing to raise a question relating to an agenda item on the day must visit the website for the relevant instructions or notify the secretary directly to the governing body (01695 588144) by noon on the day before the meeting, mentioning which agenda item they wish to comment upon. This will enable the CCG to ensure that those who wish to speak can be invited to do so.

The papers for the meeting are published on the CCG websitewww.westlancashireccg.nhs.uk one week before the meeting, or can be obtained on request by the number above.

Future locations for the CCG's board meetings held in public will be posted on the governing body page of the organisation's website.

Sports centre still signposted months after it was closed!

A BOROUGH councillor is calling on the county council to remove road signs for Skelmersdale Sports Centre, which was closed and demolished last autumn.

Skelmersdale North Councillor Neil Furey said no arrangements appear to have been made to remove road signage from various locations across the town.

He said: "It's about time they organised removal of the road signage."

Bill Dawson, principal engineer for Lancashire County Council, said: "Thank you for bringing this to our attention. We've asked one of our highways team to go out and remove any signs to the former sports centre."

Two illegal workers arrested in pizza shop

Report by Henry James

Pair detained after immigration enforcement team operation

TWO illegal workers have been arrested in Skelmersdale following an operation by Home Office Immigration Enforcement officers in Merseyside.

Officers visited Aladdin's Pizza & Kebab on Glebe Road on the afternoon of Wednesday, July 10 and found two Bangladeshi men working illegally.

One of the men, aged 32, had entered the UK illegally while the other, aged 31, had overstayed his visa. Both men were arrested.

The two men are currently detained pending their removal from the UK.

Bosses at Aladdin's Pizza & Kebab will be served with a civil penalty notice for employing the illegal workers. If the employer is unable to provide evidence that legally–required pre employment checks were carried out, a fine of up to £10,000 per worker will be imposed.

Assistant director Colin Berrington, from the Home Office's North West Immigration Enforcement Team, said: "Illegal working fuels illegal immigration to the UK and that is why we are carrying out operations like these.

"If you are a business you must carry out the correct checks on your staff or you could end up with a heavy fine.

"We are happy to work with businesses to let them know what checks need to be made on staff, but those who break the law should know that they will face heavy fines."

The Government has unveiled measures to toughen civil penalties against businesses employing illegal migrants, while cutting red tape for legitimate employers.

A six–week consultation has been launched as part of plans under the Immigration Bill to make it more difficult for illegal migrants to live and work in the UK, and to take tougher action against the employers who exploit them.

Girls get the chop to help sick children

A GROUP of big–hearted members of the fairer sex opted to 'get the chop' for a good cause when they had at least seven inches of their hair cut off to help sick children in an event at Nicola Jane Hair Design in Skelmersdale.

The hair was donated to the Little Princess Trust, a charity that provides wigs free of charge to children across the UK who have lost their own hair through cancer treatment.

Angela Webber from Nicola Jane Hair Design said: "We had a fabulous response and will look at another event later on in the year.

"As people did it individually we are unsure on their sponsor totals for the Little Princess Trust, but before the event sponsors totalled in excesses of £650."

A raffle was also started at the salon with proceeds going to the Millie–Rose appeal.

Louise gets a 'Royal' seal of approval

Report by Danielle Thompson

A SINGLE mum who had to fit in her studies around looking after three young children and working part–time has been honoured by the Royal Pharmaceutical Society for outstanding achievement and professionalism after gaining a 1st class Masters degree in pharmacy.

Louise Anne Bullen from Burscough graduated from the four–year course on Friday (July 12) at the University of Central Lancashire.

After working as a pharmaceutical dispenser for 17 years, she decided four years ago that the time was right for her to try to become a fully–qualified pharmacist.

And to fit in around her course, the 37–year–old did relief work at stores in Burscough and Southport from the end of each year's course in May until the start of the school holidays.

Speaking about the difficulties of caring for Charlotte, 14, Matthew, 11 and eight–year–old Emily, while completing the Masters course, Louise told the Champion: "It was really difficult doing a Masters in science, especially as a single mum, it was very tricky at times.

"Looking back, I'm not sure how I did it. But it really helped that I had worked in the business before and had experience in it.

"I wanted to do it, I wanted to learn and it interested me, which, I suppose, is half the battle.

"Next week I start my compulsory year working under another pharmacist but then in a year's time I will be a fully–qualified pharmacist in my own right."

Proud dad, former West Lancs Labour group leader, Alan Bullen, said: "Louise has always been bright. When she told me she was going to university four years ago, I knew she could do it, although it was hard because the kids were so young then.

"She was voted by the lecturers as the best student of the year and I couldn't be more proud."

Residents invited to Community Action Day

Report by Henry James

Event aims to reduce crime, tackle issues and improve lives of local people

DIGMOOR residents are invited to meet West Lancashire Council, police and fire service officers and the Lancashire Police and Crime Commissioner at a Community Action Day on Wednesday, July 24.

West Lancashire Community Safety Partnership has organised the scheme at Digmoor Community Centre.

The event's aims include reducing crime and the fear of crime, removing rubbish that could be used for criminal damage or to start fires, and providing advice and support on a range of community safety–related issues and services.

Staff and volunteers from many organisations will be at the centre from 10am to meet with residents and hear their views on issues.

These include crime, misuse of drugs, alcohol and other substances, and tenancy issues.

Police and Crime commissioner Clive Grunshaw will visit the community centre at 2pm as part of his public roadshow and is keen to meet residents to discuss important issues.

Dave Tilleray, chairman of the West Lancashire Community Safety Partnership, said: "We want to improve the lives of local people by bringing services to them to find out more about the needs of the community."

Councillor David Sudworth, portfolio holder for community safety, said: "This is a very important event to help people in Digmoor and they will reap the benefits if they come along."

West Lancs Council officers attending will include the environmental enforcement team and the estate management and tenant involvement teams.

ACTIVITIES

Other organisations attending include Lancashire Probation Service, Help Direct, Discover Drug and Alcohol Recovery Services, West Lancashire Domestic Violence Support Services, Lancashire County Council Trading Standards, Lancashire Youth Offending Team, West Lancashire Ark CIC, South West Lancashire Independent Community Advice Network (SWLICAN), and Uthink CIC.

The Safer Travel Team will bring the Wasted Lives Crash Car to encourage young people to drive more safely.

Residents will also be able to provide nominations for a Digmoor subway to become the focus for a community–led urban art project.

There will also be fun activities on Wednesday, July 24 and Thursday, July 25 for young people to enjoy organised by Lancashire Fire and Rescue Services, Young Peoples Services and Skelmersdale Action for Youth.

These include an It's a Knockout competition, a pool competition, arts and crafts and a 5–a–side football competition. Further details will be available at the community centre.

The event will be supported by a community clean–up, funded by the Community Safety Partnership, and skips will be available at the following locations:

- Tuesday, July 23, Birkrig – first car park on left side of 112 Birkrig.
- Wednesday, July 24, one skip outside Digmoor Community Centre and a second skip on Banksbarn on car park.
- Thursday, July 25, Beechtrees – top end, by flats on car park.

Cadets get the low–down on life–saving techniques

The Sea Cadets were taught how to use a defibrillator Code NA

SKELMERSDALE Sea Cadets have learned basic life support techniques and how to use a defibrillator as part of the Lancashire Defibrillator Campaign.

Cadet Chelsea Hall was handed the equipment to show everyone how easy they are to use with no prior training.

All cadets were awarded their British Heart Foundation Heartstart Certificates for completing the training and this enables them to progress towards a First Aid Award for the Sea Cadets.

Sue Murrin–Bailey of LDC said: "The cadets worked very hard and paid great attention which showed in their practical application of the techniques doing high–quality CPR on the mannequins."

The LDC would like to train other groups in the community. If you know of a group that would like to learn life–saving techniques please visit www.justshocking.org.uk/training.

Council bathroom replacement project brings jobs boost

Report by Henry James

BUILDING, maintenance and refurbishment firm, FT Finley, is creating new jobs in Skelmersdale to work on a project replacing 2,500 bathrooms for the borough council over the next five years.

FT Finley has established a new, fully–resourced branch in Skelmersdale, from which 11 staff and operatives will be based.

Skilled workers have already been recruited from the local area and two new apprentices, a plumber and a joiner, will also join the team.

Managing director, Jay Finley, said: "Wherever possible we look to employ people local to the area for the contracts we are working on and this is especially true when we are working on projects that span a number of years.

"This contract will also allow us to use our expertise to up–skill young people who are just starting out in the construction sector, and in many cases, offer them their first secure job."

Councillor Adrian Owens, portfolio holder for housing finance for West Lancs Council, added: "We were impressed by FT Finley throughout the rigorous tender process, not only for its competitive pricing, high–quality work and focus on customer care, but also for its commitment to investment in the local economy.

Investment

"Thanks to FT Finley's dedication to recruiting locally, this contract will be a real boost to the jobs market in the area."

Cllr Val Hopley, portfolio holder for landlord services, said: "This is a massive investment programme by the council and tenants in council homes across the borough will benefit from the improvements to their homes."

The contract will run from 2013 to 2018.

Centenarian Mims nearly didn't make it to her first birthday!

Mims with her son Michael. Code1060300

Report by Danielle Thompson

WHEN little Euphemia Dorothy Winifred Foster entered the world, King Edward VII had just opened the Victoria and Albert Museum and Louis Bleriot was still three weeks away from completing the first plane flight across the English Channel!

Now the great–grandmother, known simply as Mims Goodger (her married name) has celebrated her 104th birthday with a party attended by family, friends and the Mayor of West Lancashire.

And the spritely centenarian, who now lives at Brandreth Lodge, in Stoney Lane, Parbold, revealed that she nearly didn't make it to her first birthday!

Mims was born in West Bengal to mining engineer, Frederick Boswell Foster and his wife, Marjorie, and had a near–death experience as a young baby.

She told the Champion: "I was born in a mud hut, on a cow dung floor, and before I was one a wolf tried to steal me! Luckily, though, my guard dog, a bull mastiff, saved my life."

Life as a young girl in India in the early 20th century was a world away from today. Mims' best friend lived six miles away and she had to get on her horse to ride over to see her.

"That was totally normal for me – not like the mobile phones they have nowadays."

As a young woman Mims used to dance on the stage, but that ended when she met her husband, John Carruthers Goodger, also a mining engineer.

"My husband didn't want me to be seen by other men, but I did dance one last time on the stage after I was married, in Darjeeling, without them using my name!"

The couple went on to have three children, Joan, John Michael (known as Michael) and Peter, who were sent to boarding schools in the Himalayas.

After the end of the Second World War the family moved back to England and John set up the Dalton Coal and Fire Clay Company near Parbold with two friends.

And despite her years, Mims still enjoys a good party. She said: "I had a wonderful birthday and the mayor came to see me, which was the most marvellous surprise."

Company fined over scaffolder's fatal fall

Report by Danielle Thompson

A SCAFFOLDING company has been fined more than £100,000 over the death of a father who fell through a skylight while working on a roof in Skelmersdale.

Tony Causby, from Leigh, was working for Atherton–based S & S Scaffolding Ltd. dismantling scaffolding on a roof when he stepped through one of 80 fragile skylights and fell 40ft on to a concrete floor on December 14, 2010.

In a case brought by the Health and Safety Executive (HSE), Liverpool Crown Court heard the 42–year–old's partner, Debra Wyley tell of her despair at his death, which experts said could have been prevented by the company.

Ms Wiley told the court: "I miss Tony so much. It is difficult to put into words how Tony's death has affected our lives.

"I feel our son is missing out on so many things that his dad would have done with him, like football, rugby and taking him swimming.

"I started having panic attacks and wouldn't go out because I felt people were looking at me because of what had happened. I rarely go out to socialise and hate mixing with other families and attending family dos.

Tony Causby Code NA

"He was such a big part of our lives and was very close to my family. He often did jobs for them – even my mum and dad, who live in Spain."

S & S Scaffolding were prosecuted by the HSE over breaches of the Work at Height Regulations Act 2005 and the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974. They were fined £75,000 and ordered to pay £31,517 in prosecution costs.

The court heard Mr Causby had helped to erect the scaffolding in October and returned to the site on December 14 to dismantle it. However, the company failed to arrange for covers to be put on the one–metre x two–metre skylights nearest to where its employees were working to prevent them falling through.

HSE Inspector Jacqueline Western condemned the firm for its lack of safety precautions.

She said: "Mr Causby died because S & S Scaffolding didn't do enough to protect him from the risks of working at height, despite being a specialist scaffolding firm and being fully aware of the dangers of falls.

"It would have been relatively easy to cover the fragile skylights near to where the employees were working to prevent anyone from falling through if they accidently stepped on one.

"Alternatively, netting or crash mats could have been provided under the skylights to reduce the chance of a worker being injured if they fell.

"Sadly, none of these options were chosen by S & S Scaffolding and Mr Causby lost his life as a result."

School duo's opening assignment

LATHOM High School's new head girl and head boy, Lauren Kent and Tom Anderson, attended their first official engagement at Stocks Hall's annual open day, along with Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Iain Ashcroft.

The students spent time at the care home chatting with residents before presenting manager, Sue King with a piece of art work, produced by one of Lathom's up–and–coming talents.

Council outlines savings options

Report by Henry James

Reserves could be used to bridge £665,000 'gap'

BOSSES at West Lancashire Borough Council have announced a number of options for savings, including using £474,000 from reserves, in an attempt to balance the books after a gap of £665,000 was identified in their budget for 2014/15.

Councillors will consider the measures at a meeting tonight (Wednesday, July 17).

After the council has agreed provisional proposals, it will invite residents, community groups, public sector organisations and local businesses to give their views on them before final decisions are made in October.

The main policy options under consideration at this stage include:

• Reducing spending on food safety inspections in accordance with a reduction in Food Standards Agency (FSA) requirements and reduced health promotion work.

• Restructuring of internal audit to reduce costs.

• Introducing charges for replacement wheelie bins and recycling boxes.

• Increasing some fees and charges in line with inflation.

• Budget streamlining in leisure services, planning, housing and regeneration and member services to make efficiency savings, which the council has said will "not impact on customers."

One of the options is to take £474,000 from reserves. A council spokesman said this is an option because the "last few years have seen an unprecedented level of change within the council. Consequently there is now a need to allow a period of time for these changes to bed in and then to carefully consider and assess the new environment facing the council."

The budget gap had been forecast at £820,000, but during the course of 2013/14 a number of savings have already been implemented which have a positive effect on the 2014/15 budget, totalling £155,000. This leaves a budget gap of £665,000 for 2014/15.

The report to council recommends this is met by using £474,000 from reserves, in addition to agreeing the £191,000 policy options.

The policy options were informed by a survey earlier this year when people were asked to give their views on which services they thought should be lower or higher priorities when considering spending reductions.

Councillor David Westley, portfolio holder for finance, said: "Over the past few years the council has successfully reduced spending and improved income generation.

"Through prudent financial management and a focus on generating efficiencies, we've been able to save money while minimising the effect on services.

"However there are further financial challenges ahead and so we need to find significant sums again next year. We're trying to balance the need to make savings against our wish to maintain services for residents for as long as possible. Once the council has selected potential options we will invite local people to give their views."

State of roads is deplorable – and dangerous!

As a returning resident to West Lancashire I am even more appalled at the rapidly deteriorating rate of public road maintenance than ever before.

As firstly a motorist and also a cyclist, I am absolutely disgusted beyond belief at the conditions on the public highway that I/we have constantly got to negotiate around.

We are being constantly preached at about reducing dependency upon our cars and to use public transport and cycles as an alternative means of transport, especially when it comes to the shorter journeys.

But the public transport systems are in dire need of some serious looking at and it actually begs the question whether they are indeed a viable option, especially when the nearest bus stops are a mile away and you only have one of two directions in which those buses travel and they are both of the same bus journey end to end.

As a cyclist I see first–hand what I and others are subjecting our cars to – that is to say from a distance of one metre while constantly dodging the hazards.

The immediate area in which I live is Bescar Lane, Drummersdale Lane and Woodmoss Lane. They are absolutely peppered with potholes, scarring, surface erosion, sunken grids and manhole covers. This is thoroughly deplorable.

The current cock–eyed philosophy of fill and run has got to be the greatest waste of money, resources and time that could ever be imagined.

Typically, one such location was 'dealt with' earlier this year (since April) and there is clear evidence that the hole (no, crater!) is appearing again.

Once into Orrell Lane and at the junction of Mart Lane there is a series of holes that beggar belief and apart from any other consideration, a person of failing sight or of total loss, with or without a white stick and/or a guide dog, would run a serious risk of an unwanted stay in our already–over–pressured local A&E.

John Shepherd, Scarisbrick.

Baffled by motorists' silence

I was surprised by the lack of correspondence on your letters page from the anti–social motorists who continue to ignore the traffic restriction signs on the avenues ajacent to Ormskirk Hospital.

The silence from both staff and people attending the hospital, who use the estate as a car park, baffles me and my neighbours because most of them certainly have plenty to say on the occasions they are approached about the nuisance they are causing. The abuse and threats some of the residents have had to endure is an absolute disgrace – and this from so–called mature adults, not from the much–maligned 'youth of today.'

Oh, and to those motorists who comment, 'I've paid my road tax, I can park where I want, Road Tax was abolished in 1937. Motorists pay a Vehicle Excise Duty on their car,which goes to the Chancellor of Exchequer.

Roads and highways are maintained by money from the local council tax, paid by pedestrians, cyclists, pram and wheelchair–users, as well as car–owners.

Flowers trashed

Re: the letter headed 'Thanks for the splash of colour' (Champion, July 3) about the area around the seat at Heyes Croft in Bickerstaffe, I too appreciated this – and the new bench.

However, I was disappointed when passing later to see all the tulips had been trashed by persons unknown who obviously did not appreciate then the same as I did.

Maybe they had a particular hatred for tulips or flowers in general.

Divide getting wider

Once again we see working–class people struggling to survive, out to work – if they're lucky – every day, earning just about enough to keep the wolves at bay.

Meanwhile money is tighter than ever and everything's going up – including the pay for fat–cat MPs.

Once again the government that we have put in power don't have a clue what it's like to live in the real world.

The rich are getting richer, the divide is as wide as it's ever been and the nation needs to wake up and see the bigger picture.

Steven Lowe, Skelmersdale

'Mini fracks' are still potentially hazardous

Shale gas frackers Cuadrilla have written to local residents stating that they no longer intend to frack at Banks and that they will be putting in a new planning application to continue investigations on site.

They say that, instead of fracking, they intend to carry out Diagnostic Formation Injection Tests (DFITs)

To avoid this jaw–busting jargon, DFITs are normally referred to by the shale oil and gas industry as 'mini fracks.' It still involves pumping of water underground at high pressure, with all the negative impacts that can have.

This process was used at the site near Blackpool in 2011, as part of the sequence of events which led to the two minor earthquakes. It is not possible to prove how big a part the mini fracks played in the earthquakes, so this procedure must be considered potentially as hazardous as a standard frack.

In fact, Cuadrilla are trying to play down the impacts of DFITs to avoid carrying out a full Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) for their site, as required by Lancashire County Council.

Also in their letter Cuadrilla say "we have decided not to proceed with this planning application, but instead to submit a modified application."

The truth is that they have applied to LCC to amend the current application.

Could this be an attempt to sideline the 800–plus objections to the current application, while, at the same time, preventing the full consultation and opportunity for objections that a genuine new application would create?

Ribble Estuary Against Fracking (REAF), the community action group opposing fracking in the Banks area, have written to the county council seeking assurance that they will not be duped by this ruse.

Eve McNamara, speaking on behalf of the group, said: "We want Lancashire County Council to recognise that DFITs are, in fact, a type of fracking; to continue to demand a full EIA and to ensure that all current objections will still be taken in to account for what is in reality a continued fracking process.

"Cuadrilla should be required to honour their statements to residents and be made to put in a new full planning application for their proposal."

World would be a better place if more gave way more often

In response to 'Dismayed' re: the bus driver who failed to stop for the lady in the middle of the road trying to attract his attention.

I agree with regards to the ignorance of the bus driver, but wouldn't it have made sense if Dismayed had stopped his/her own car to let the lady across?

I personally let pedestrians cross at every opportunity, taking the German/Dutch rules on board which states 'cars give way to bikes and pedestrians, bikes give way to pedestrians.'

A very simple rule, but it works, and everyone still gets to their destination with maybe only seconds delay. What a better place this would be if people gave way more often.

I once stopped to let a young schoolboy across the main Burscough–Parbold road on his bike at rush hour, and at least 12 cars continued regardless in the opposite direction! I wonder if the response would have been different had it been their own child?

Schools recognised for community scheme

YEAR Six pupils from five West Lancashire schools have received recognition for taking part in the Rotary Junior Community Award scheme which is run by the Rotary Club of Ormskirk.

The presentation evening was held at the Priory Science College and pupils from Lordsgate CE Primary School, Burscough; St Michael's CE Primary, Aughton; St Anne's Catholic Primary, Ormskirk; Ormskirk CE Primary; Westhead Lathom St James and Burscough Village Primary participated.

A welcome was offered to all present by the incoming president of the Rotary Club of Ormskirk, Chris Byron, and the awards were presented by the Deputy Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Doreen Stephenson, and her consort, Councillor Ruth Melling.

The evening was also attended by Royary Club assistant district governor, Keith Mitchell, and Mrs Swindlehurst, senior assistant headteacher of Priory Science College.

The Rotary Community Junior Award, now in its sixth year, involves the pupils completing a range of activities during their final year in junior school.

The activities are designed to give the children a wide range of experiences in their community.

The award is non–competitive and has been devised for children of all academic and physical abilities to enable them to experience the satisfaction of community service.

Trust team give charity projects a makeover

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancashire College's Prince's Trust team have completed their latest community project.

The Skelmersdale team have divided their time between Twinkle House children's charity and Point Six Youth Centre.

They renovated the Twinkle House garden with new seeds and grass, painted walls and floors and did a deep–clean of the surrounding areas.

At Point Six Youth Centre the team have worked hard to repair the walls, floor and ceiling.

Prince's Trust team member Emma Ross, 24 from Skelmersdale, said "Our projects have gone really well and the work that we have done is a great addition to the community. Both of the projects are really important to the charities and it's great for us to give back to charities in the area. The Trust teams are integral to the local community and we are really pleased with the work we've done."

The Prince's Trust will help 55,000 disadvantaged young people this year, giving them the confidence and skills to turn their lives around. Three in four young people on Prince's Trust schemes move in to work, education or training.

Primary pupils get a taste of secondary school life

Glenburn Sports College students who staged Alice in Wonderland at the Performing Arts Festival and primary schools liaison day.
Code1060095

PRIMARY pupils have been able to get a taste of what life will be like in secondary school.

Year 5 pupils spent the day with the Glenburn school community as part of this year's primary liaison event.

The day was titled Alice in Wonderland and was linked to the themes of adventure, excitement, fun and a magical journey.

At the beginning of the day there was a Mad Hatter's tea party where the students could familiarise themselves with the cast of Alice performed by Glenburn's Year 7 and Year 10 students.

As well as watching the performance, the Year 5 pupils had the opportunity to be involved in sessions themed around the chapters of the novel in subjects such as English, maths or science and PE or design technology.

In the evening there was a performance of Alice where more than 100 primary pupils joined the Glenburn cast and gave the audience a concert of choreographed musical and drama pieces as part of Glenburn's Performing Arts Festival.

Cast members circulated with members of the audience after the performance and gave photographic opportunities. There was then the chance to join the remaining departments at the school's early open evening.

A spokeswoman for Glenburn said: "The staff at Glenburn pride themselves on being part of a learning community which is always innovating and finding new ways to engage and inspire our learners.

"The whole evening was judged to be a fantastic success with more than 400 visitors on site."

Making holes is a booming business

I really am getting a bit steamed up over the continual digging up of our roads.

Now since I am largely a pedestrian, you might think the dreaded roadworks would not upset me unduly. But they do.

For instance, twice a week I travel from my home in Maghull to Southport – by bus – to touch base with my colleagues at Champion Towers and to deliver the results of my week's work on my memory stick.

I've been making this journey for years and thought I knew every bump, pothole and kink in the road.

So I am in the habit of reading a book pretty well all the way there and back. Incidentally, that is a side benefit to not owning a car.

But so far this year, on at least three occasions I have been roused from my reading by the realisation that I am not where I should be.

Major roadworks on the route have see the bus being taken quite literally miles out of its way – sometimes for several days or even weeks.

Now this in itself is diverting (pun intended) and interesting for me. But I don't think I'd have seen the funny side if I had wanted to get on or off anywhere where the bus could no longer go, if you get my drift.

And just last week I was interested to see that on one 'closed' stretch of road, complete with eight–legger tipper lorries and all the rest of the paraphernalia, the bus was being allowed through – but not private cars.

Any smugness I might have felt faded quickly though. A couple of hours later I had an appointment in Maghull with a chap driving from Southport.

He was more than half an hour late – because he had come up against this same road work, and not being a bus had been turned back and had miles added to his journey as a consequence.

These road works seem to be proliferating.

And these days you often can't even tell who it is that's doing the excavations. Not long ago you could see from the vehicles that it was the electricity or gas board, the council or the water people. Now everyone seems to have scrapped their own lorry fleets in favour of using contractors.

I go to Ormskirk quite frequently both for shopping and with Tina (there are some good walks in and around this lovely old market town).

And at the moment the place looks as though several bombs have hit it, with craters all over the shop.

Tina and I recently walked from Ormskirk station to Aughton. Having come across the extensive road works in the town, we thought we could avoid them on our way back by using a footpath running alongside the railway line which ends in a short stretch of very narrow road leading to a few cottages.

I had to think again. Narrow road, filled with wide wagons and men in hard hats!

Here in Maghull, very near to where I live there are emergency sewer repairs being undertaken. Now obviously this is vital an necessary work.

What annoys me though is that pedestrians are being diverted because a flexible pipe extends down the side road – and instead of putting one of those 'mats' over it for those on foot to use, instead weary (and often elderly) shoppers, as well as mums with prams, are being diverted too.

Not much of a diversion, true. But frustrating if you are carrying heavy bags.

And totally unnecessary.

Martin Mere wins travel website excellence award

Burscough nature reserve earns rave reviews from visitors

Report by Henry James

MARTIN Mere has been named as a top performing visitor attraction by users of one of the world's largest and best–known travel sites.

The 650–acre Wildfowl & Wetland Trust site at Burscough has received a TripAdvisor® Certificate of Excellence, placing it in the top performing 10 per cent of all businesses worldwide.

The prestigious accolade recognises hospitality excellence and is given only to those establishments that consistently achieve outstanding traveller reviews.

To qualify for a Certificate of Excellence, businesses must maintain an overall rating of four out of five or higher and must have been listed on TripAdvisor for at least 12 months.

Additional criteria include the volume of reviews received within the last 12 months.

The website's 'snapshot' facility shows that out of a current total of 168 reviews, the nature reserve's overall score is 4.5 out of five and the centre is ranked top attraction listed under the same TripAdvisor area.

Victoria Fellowes, marketing manager at Martin Mere, said: "Bringing people and wildlife together, for the benefit of both, is at the heart of what we do and as such we strive to offer everyone who comes through our doors a memorable experience.

"This award is evidence that our hard work is translating into positive reviews on TripAdvisor and we're thrilled to receive it."

Alison Copus, vice–president of marketing for TripAdvisor for Business, added: "TripAdvisor is delighted to celebrate the success of businesses around the globe, from Sydney to Chicago, Sao Paulo to Rome, which are consistently offering TripAdvisor travellers a great customer experience.

"The Certificate of Excellence award provides top–performing establishments around the world the recognition they deserve, based on feedback from those who matter most – their customers."

MP opposes Royal Mail privatisation

THE borough's MP Rosie Cooper has spoken out against the Government's plans to privatise Royal Mail.

The company is to be privatised later this year, but unions are also against the plans and have said they could strike over the issue.

MP Rosie Cooper said: "My position on Royal Mail has consistently been that I am a firm supporter of a modern, publicly–owned, universal postal system. I believe there needs to be modernisation but not privatisation.

"Through a modernisation programme Royal Mail's profits have doubled under public ownership. Therefore, you have to question the Government's decision and their timing. It seems to me it's more about selling off the family silver to cover the cost of the extra Government borrowing. The Government has certainly not made a case why it is in taxpayer's interests to be selling Royal Mail at this time.

"I think all taxpayers will end up with is a poorer service and one that costs more. That doesn't sound like a good deal to me."

Royal Mail will be floated on the London Stock Exchange as opposed to being sold to a private buyer.

The Government has said they want to privatise Royal Mail to give the company access to the private capital it needs to grow and stay competitive.

Club reports surge in interest after Andy's Wimbledon triumph

Sam Rogerson from Mawdesley Tennis Club met Andy Murray a few years ago
Code NA

Report by Evelyn Robinson

MURRAY Mania has seen a local tennis club witness a surge in interest in the sport.

Officials at Mawdesley Tennis Club say they have had an increase in phone calls and membership applications from adults and children alike since Andy Murray's historic victory over Novak Djokovic in the final of the mens singles championship at Wimbledon.

And it has given one club member a 'claim to fame'.

Eighteen–year–old Sam Rogerson, who is currently on a tennis scholarship in the USA, met Andy a few years ago when they were both at the same tournament and managed to get a photo taken of the two of them together.

The club's junior co–ordinator, Trevor Hale, said: "Sam is on a tennis scholarship in Northern Kentucky but when he comes back home he plays for the club when he can and the picture of him with Andy Murray is still proudly displayed in our clubhouse."

And he added: "Murray's victory means so much for Britain. We're experiencing a big buzz about tennis this summer, particularly in the junior age groups and I think that's because they all want to be like Andy Murray now."

Students inspired by Paralympian's visit

Report by Henry James

STUDENTS at West Lancashire College were given an insight into living with a disability when they were visited by a Paralympic medallist who competed in the 1988 Seoul Olympics.

Deborah Cornwall went aong to the college to share her experiences with the group.

Students heard about her time as a professional athlete in the Paralympics and also her successful career as a teacher.

Deborah injured herself in a climbing accident when she was 23. After the accident she was airlifted to hospital and found to be paralysed from the chest down.

She has since re–trained as a primary school teacher, as well as having a successful athletic career.

Deborah spoke about her experiences as a disabled person and how she had to adjust following the accident.

She attended the college to speak to Childcare students and brought her Paralympic medal from the Seoul Olympics, along with her tracksuit, photos of the Olympic Village and other medals that she has attained from other sporting events.

Deborah Cornwall with students Code NA

She told the students about how her climbing accident changed her life, leading her to strive to compete in the Olympics.

Andrea Bowra, Childcare course tutor said: "Deborah's visit gave the students an insight into what it is like to live with a disability and the problems you can face when you are disabled.

"Deborah was upbeat and inspirational and the students benefited from this as they're studying a unit about working with children with additional needs.

"Some of the students have already worked with children who are wheelchair–users in their placements and her input was very helpful to all the learners in teaching them what is important to remember in these circumstances.

"It was a great opportunity to welcome Deborah and her disability help dog Basil who was a big hit with the students!"

Funny, nostalgic and tear–jerking

Norma's life story is a great read

The author at her Burscough home. Code1060387

Report by Jim Sharpe

IT'S not often that something truly wonderful comes into your life – and when I was contacted by a woman living in Burscough asking if I might be interested in a book she had written, I had no indication that something had.

But 'Arry's Big Swiss', an autobiography written by Norma Mudd, writing under the name of Kate Croston, is a book that is at once very, very funny – yet at the same time nostalgic and, at times, tear–jerking.

It tells Norma's story through life in pre–Second World War Bolton, tracing her home life and school years, right through the war and into the post–war time of television and the end of rationing.

For many older people it will bring back memories of their youth. For younger folk it provides a window into how things used to be.

Norma is a former English teacher at Maghull High School, Deyes High School and Warwick Bolan Grammar in Bootle who has already written educational books.

However, she thought she'd try something completely different and the result is something rather special. Two of her grandchildren designed the book's cover and some of the charming illustrations inside.

The book's title, 'Arry's Big Swiss' is a reference to the nickname she was given by her father 'Arry when she was born. Her mother had thought at first she had a cyst – or swiss as her dad pronounced it – and when she was born 'Arry remarked she was a bonny baby and added: "That 'swiss' were a bloody big 'un."

Norma said: "This is my first venture into narrative writing and I never thought it would be published. I really wrote it for my family and friends. It was my daughter who reckoned it would have a wider appeal."

The book includes recollections of Bolton's famous covered market where 'Arry, erstwhile bookie, then ran his own hosiery stall.

Much of the humour – and pathos – in the book involves 'Arry, a genuine Lancashire character who never, obviously, had ever heard of political correctness.

So far as he was concerned, family holidays were taken in Southport. "Southport's far enough for any bugger!"

Now Norma hopes that some of the people who read her book will remember her and hopefully get in touch.

'Arry's Big Swiss' is available from Broadhursts in Southport and also lulu.com at £7.95 plus pp. You can contact Norma by phone 01704 893607 or by email at normajohn mudd@talktalk.net

Earthquake fears dismissed

THE company hoping to drill for shale gas in Banks have dismissed fears that fracking may make an area more likely to be affected by earthquakes.

New research by one of the world's leading seismology labs suggests that the removal of a fracking waste product may put pressure on fault lines, putting the area at risk of a 'domino' earthquake effect.

But Cuadrilla Resources, who have lodged a planning application to hydraulically fracture at Banks, told the Champion that this is not concern for residents near the potential site.

A spokesman said: "The subject of the recent article in Science magazine by Columbia University is deep wastewater injection rather than hydraulic fracturing.

"The practice of disposing of flowback water by deep wastewater injection is used widely in the US but is not permitted in the UK under environmental regulations.

"Cuadrilla will not be disposing of flowback water by deep wastewater injection."

West Lancs MP non–committal on proposed 10% pay rise

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has given a non–committal response to the controversy surrounding proposals for MPs to receive a pay rise of more than 10 per cent by 2015.

The Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority (Ipsa) has said MP's salaries should rise from £66,396 to £74,000 after the 2015 election.

This announcement has caused outrage, coming at a time when both public and private sector workers are facing pay restraints.

Commenting on the proposals, the West Lancs MP said: "I've always been clear that I welcomed the decision to remove the power for MPs to decide their own pay and the establishment of Ipsa as an independent body to make these decisions.

"Now these recommendations are out to consultation it will give the public a chance to have their say and for them to be reviewed again by the independent body.

"I will not be making a submission to the consultation. I do believe though that any decision about MPs pay must reflect the wider economic circumstances and the constraints on pay in the public sector and conditions in the private sector.

"I will wait to see what the public and Ipsa have to say and let them make their decision.

"In the meantime I will leave Ipsa to get on with their job while I do mine, representing the people of West Lancashire."

Ipsa are also proposing that MP's expenses are cut and that their pensions are made less generous.

Currently MP's salaries are due to increase to £67,060 in April 2014 and by 1% the following year.

There will be a public consultation on Ipsa's proposals, which will run until October 20.

She says: 'I'll leave Ipsa to get on with their job and I'll do mine'

Madge still enjoys a party – at 110!

Madge Sandiford with manager Linda Burrows, activities co–ordinators Liz and Caroline and care assistant Louise
Code1060614

STAFF and residents at a local nursing home held a party to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the Queen's Coronation – with a special 'guest' of their own who has seen more than her fair share of milestones!

Resident Margaret Sandiford, known as Madge, is believed to be one of the oldest people in the UK at 110.

She and fellow residents and their friends and families enjoyed a 'street' party at the home, with a pianist playing songs of the 1950s, a DVD of the Coronation playing and Champagne and cake.

There was no bubbly for Madge, though as she reckons one of the secrets of a long life is not drinking alcohol – and she should know!

The new Bickerstaffe Rose Queen and her attendants

THE glorious weather continued on Saturday, much to the delight of organisers and visitors to the ever–popoular Bickerstaffe Summer Fair.

Following the crowning of the new Bickerstaffe Rose Queen, Isla Webster, activities on the day included stalls and games, including a donkey derby, splat–the–rat, beat–the–goalie and tombola.

Entertainment through the afternoon was provided by The Wigan Ukulele band and Scoop, the knife–juggling, fire–eating jester.

And in a special ceremony, the newly–crowned Rose Queen unveiled a plaque to dedicate the parish field as a Queen Elizabeth II Field in Trust.

This new status, obtained by Bickerstaffe Parish Council, will protect this important public space for the use of the community.

THE sun shone on Westhead Carnival as around 3,000 visitors flocked to the popular annual event.

More than £2,000 was raised awards helping local good causes over the three–day event, which offered pony rides, singers, dog displays, a dressage show, Skelmersdale Brass Band and a parade.

Mayor and Mayoress of West Lancashire, Councillor Iain and Mrs Beverley Ashcroft, opened the carnival and took part in the vintage car procession.

The civic couple also greeted Carnival Queen, Charlotte Mackie and her retinue before leading the parade to the school field on School Lane.

One of the carnival floats Code1060321

Carnival secretary Moira Maciver said: "It was really lovely. Everyone enjoyed the sun and it was the best carnival we have ever had."

BOWLING GREEN HOUSE FARM, HIGHMOOR LANE, WRIGHTINGTON £595,000

Bowling Green House Farm is a rare gem of a property, the type of home that seldom becomes available on the open market. Originally, it is believed the property may have dated as far back as the 1640's although the house has evolved over the years with later additions. Our clients fell in love with the property around 40 years ago and it is not hard to see why, the impressive 0.6 acre plot is delightful, surrounded by beautiful green belt countryside, enjoying some of West Lancashire's best views and spectacular sunsets. The lovely garden plot is the perfect place to raise a family, safe and secure in the private gardens. This special location gives you the feeling of being deep in the countryside yet you can be on Junction 27 - M6 in under 10 minutes plus the country pub The Rigby Arms is within easy walking distance. A very impressive detached double garage is a fairly recent addition. The building features a purpose Viewing is highly recommend and invited but is strictly by appointment only.

Human mobile display wows crowds at University

Report by Henry James

AN INTERNATIONALLY–ACCLAIMED French street theatre company took centre stage at Edge Hill University last week with a breathtaking human mobile suspended 100 feet above the campus.

The world–renowned theatre troupe Transe Express brought their Mobile Homme show to campus, which combined circus skills, visual arts, music and dance in performances that took place above the crowds.

Transe Express has wowed audiences all over the world including Sydney, Las Vegas, Stockholm and Moscow and were at Edge Hill University on July 11 for the free performance watched by almost 3,000 people.

They brought their vividly costumed drummers, acrobats and dancers along to create a scene of colour and percussion as they paraded around the campus, before being lifted high into the air for the aerial performance to form a giant children's mobile, like those used on babies' cots.

Roy Bayfield, chair of the university's arts and culture committee, said: "The magical spectacle created by Transe Express took place at the end of our popular summer residential for Performing Arts, English and Media applicants and created a real summer festival feel here on campus as it delighted and mesmerised people of all ages.

"It was part of the Arts Centre's exciting events programme, which brings world–class acts to the town for students, residents and visitors to enjoy – and follows on from the success of the Quidams performance in October last year for the Arts Centre opening, which attracted hundreds of people to campus.

"Performances like these really do enhance the north–west region's thriving arts scene and put the University on the map for its growing cultural activities."

Singin' In The Rain to make a splash at the Liverpool Empire

Report by Henry James

FOLLOWING its recent sell–out season in London's West End, the critically acclaimed Chichester Festival Theatre production of the musical Singin' In The Rain is to come to Liverpool.

The show will star former Casualty star Maxwell Caulfield as studio boss RF Simpson, Coronation Street favourite Vicky Binns as starlet Lina Lamont, James Leece as Don Lockwood, Amy Ellen Richardson as Kathy Selden and Stephane Anelli as Cosmo Brown.

Maxwell Caulfield said: "I am beyond thrilled to be hitting the road with Singin' in the Rain. As a huge fan of the original movie, the chance to bring this story to life on stage is something I couldn't pass up and it'll be great visiting some of the beautiful theatres on the tour, some I've been to previously, some are going to be a brand new experience for me.

"Theatre work is a huge passion of mine and having dealt with a few studio bosses in my time too, I relish the opportunity to play RF Simpson in this glorious production."

Vicky Binns added: "To be in a musical of this scale and quality is a dream job for me.

"I was blown away when I saw this production in London, so it's a thrill to bring it straight from the West End to Liverpool.

"If like me, you have seen and love the film, it is a real treat to see how it can be brought so lavishly to the stage, if not, what a way to experience the story for the first time you can't beat live Theatre!

"The part of Lina Lamont is a gift of a role as the writing is packed with humour, pathos and well...fabulousness!".

Vicky Binns as Lina Lamont Code NA

Don Lockwood is a silent movie star with everything he could want – fame, adulation and a well–publicised 'romance' with his co–star Lina Lamont. But Hollywood is about to change forever. There is rumour in the studio of a new kind of film, where the actors actually talk and sing...and dance. Can Don and the uniquely voiced Lina make the transition and will chorus girl Kathy Selden fulfil her dream of stardom and capture Don's heart along the way?

Maxwell Caulfield Code NA

This production of Singin' the Rain opened at the Chichester Festival Theatre in summer 2011 and extended due to public demand. It then transferred to the iconic Palace Theatre in the West End in February 2012 where it received four Olivier Award nominations, and played to more than 750,000 audience members, some leaving the theatre a little wetter than when they arrived!

Singin' in the Rain features songs such as Make 'em Laugh, Good Morning, Moses Supposes and Singin' in the Rain.

The stage production of Singin' in the Rain is based on the classic Metro–Goldwyn–Mayer 1952 film starring Gene Kelly.

The show will play at the Liverpool Empire from April 22 to May 3, 2014.

For more information call 0844 871 3017.

Chance to get a taste of the great outdoors

CHILDREN can get a taste of the great outdoors during the school summer holidays by taking part in junior rangers events in parks across West Lancashire.

Youngsters can meet a Viking, go pond dipping and feed farm animals as well as enjoying arts activities with the West Lancashire Borough Council Rangers.

Councillor David Sudworth, portfolio holder for leisure, said: "The Junior Rangers have a really exciting programme. Children who take part in the activities have a great time and learn a lot about nature and wildlife. The activities are free so come and join the Junior Rangers."

Junior Rangers events are open to children aged between five and 12 and run from 2pm–4pm. These activities are free but places must be booked in advance. Booking opens seven days before each event.

The first one this summer is on Thursday, July 25 when the Animobile petting zoo comes to Stanley Coronation Park in Skemersdale. Animobile will also be at Beacon Country Park on Wednesday, August 7 .

Barn Owl Bill brings his birds to Beacon Country Park on Wednesday, July 31 and Stanley Coronation Park on Thursday, August 8.

Osric the Viking visits Beacon Country Park on Tuesday, August 20. He will demonstrate what life was like for Viking children and teach them warrior skills.

Other fun activities include helping the rangers improve the habitats for wildlife at Ormskirk's Coronation Park on Monday, August 26. The park also hosts an orienteering and scavenger hunt event on Monday, August 12.

Children can show off their artistic skills by creating a piece of art at Park Art activities which take place at Coronation Park in Ormskirk on Monday, July 29, Beacon Country Park on Tuesday, July 30, Richmond Park in Burscough on Thursday, August 1 and Beacon Country Park again on Tuesday, August13 .

The junior rangers' summer programme finishes with the Ranger Olympics at Richmond Park on Thursday, August 29, where children can enjoy races and conquer the obstacle course.

PRAYER

DEAR SACRED HEART OF JESUS

In the past I have asked for many favours.
This time I ask for one special favour.
(mention it)

Take it dear heart of Jesus and place it within your own broken heart where your Father sees it. Then in his merciful eyes it will become your favour, not mine.

Amen

Say this prayer for three days, promise publication and your favour will be granted. Never to be failed.

M.C.

14th July

'Dad'

Today should have been your birthday filled with lots of good cheer, but instead it's filled with sadness because you are not here.
No more smiles, no more jokes,
just the memory of the wonderful Dad you were to me.
A million tears I have cried.
A million tears I have wiped away.

Miss you Dad every single day.

I know we are feeling very sad,
We have lost our grandad, our friend, our dad
For in our lives he played such a special part,
The memories will be treasured and kept close to our hearts

Although he has gone we will always be together, and his spirit will live on in each of us forever
We know that when God called you that you had to go
But we want you to know that we will always miss you and love you so

Love from Jacqui, Ste, Jonathan and Lucy

Champion MOTORS

Zero VAT on MG models

ANYONE shopping for a summer bargain might be tempted by the chance to save thousands off the cost a brand new MG.

It's probably not unfair to point out the company's 6 model hasn't exactly been flying out the showrooms, but to fight back the company has launched a 0% VAT offer on both the GT hatchback and the Magnette saloon versions.

Guy Jones, MG's Sales & Marketing Director, said: "This is a great offer and, unlike some Zero VAT promotions, there are no exclusions or hidden catches with our offer.

"Our dealers will also be able to give customers some very competitive finance deals."

The biggest discount on offer is on the range–topping MG6 DTi–TECH Magnette, which offers buyers the chance to shave £3,601 off the usual price.

Fantastic news for Parbold Petrolheads

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.blogspot.com

GREAT news if you're a petrolhead in Parbold.

VW could be about to launch the perfect set of wheels for West Lancashire.

I worked this out the other day when I was buzzing down the country lanes the other day, in a bottom–of–the–range Volkswagen Up.

The cheapest car Europe's biggest car company makes – if you discount its cheaper but otherwise identical cousins, the Skoda Citigo and the SEAT Mii – is one I've just the best part of 2,000 miles with.

It's a flawed gem of a car because it comes with as many drawbacks as it does delights – but that's why I'm convinced this tiny city tot is perfect if you're darting around the outskirts of Ormskirk.

Its 1.0 litre, triple–cylinder engine is perfect, for instance, for dealing with the rash of 20mph speed limits recently imposed across much of the borough, but it's very hard work on the motorway.

When you put your down, the sixty horses beneath the bonnet don't rampage to the rescue – they call a meeting, to discuss at length how best to deal with the unexpected demand for some oomph.

Eventually, long after the overtaking opportunity's gone, they reluctantly deal you some speed.

The Up's also hampered by a tiny boot, but by far its most annoying feature is the lack of fuel range.

It's superbly good at sipping the unleaded rather than downing it like a student at a freshers party, but because it'll only take £45's worth you're forever stopping to fill it up on longer trips.

These however, are minor moans about a motor I've really grown fond of.

I love the faintly Porsche–esque throb the three cylinder motor makes – at least it sounds fast – and that it offers handling, rather than grip, through the bends.

It's also cheap to buy and run, pleasing to behold and far better trimmed on the inside than its Citroen, Peugeot and Fiat rivals.

Its petite proportions mean it's perfectly sized for the narrow lanes which cris–cross West Lancashire.

The suspension's smooth enough to iron out the bits the county council haven't got around to mending yet, and the handling means you can tackle the many corners with confidence.

In fact, all it needs is a bit more power, to deal with the climb over Parbold Hill.

Luckily, VW has realised this and is getting ready to release the Up GT, the 109bhp hot hatch version, any day now.

If they sort out it out with a bigger fuel tank, it really could be the perfect car for West Lancashire's roads.

Can't wait to find out.

North West is best for speed, says supercar makers BAC

THE makers of a single–seater supercar have decided to relocate to Liverpool after being swamped with orders from speed–seeking buyers.

BAC said that following the success of their Mono model they have decided to move to a larger factory on Merseyside, and will set up shop at a site in Speke next year.

Joe Anderson, the mayor of Liverpool, said:"This is great news for Liverpool. BAC is an ambitious, visionary company, and its desire to relocate to our city speaks volumes for our business offer.

The support we have provided will help create new jobs and apprenticeships and further build our reputation as a city of automotive excellence.

BAC Mono is a prestigious brand, and it's fantastic that motoring and racing enthusiasts alike will know that a car which is turning heads wherever it goes – whether on the road or track – is made in Liverpool."

Liverpool has a longstanding association with car manufactures, particularly with the former Ford plant at Halewood, which is now used by Jaguar Land Rover to produce the Land Rover Freelander and Range Rover Evoque.

New Swift in Britain

SUZUKI is now offering up one of the smallest 4x4s on sale in Britain today after introducing the latest twist on its Swift model.

The company said the four–wheel–drive version of the Swift had already been a hit with customers both in continental Europe and in its native Japan, and that it would go on sale across the UK later this month.

A Suzuki spokesman said: "This new model has a proven and simple fully automatic and permanent 4–wheel drive system which transfers additional torque to the rear wheels when required via a viscous coupling, further enhancing the already highly acclaimed cornering ability of the Swift.

It is also an ideal choice for customers living in rural areas without owning a larger and more conventional off–roader."

The Swift 4x4 will only be available as a five–door hatchback. Prices for the new arrival will start from £11,516.

Ormskirk hold out for draw in league but bow out of National Trophy

ORMSKIRK are out of the ECB National Knockout after a 95–run defeat at home to a strong West Indian Cavaliers team on Sunday.

The Cavaliers made 237–6 in their 45 overs with former county players Usman Afzaal (65) and Bilal Shafayet (38) top scoring.

In reply Ormskirk were all out for 142 with Akhil Patel claiming six wickets for 27 runs. Opener Matthew Glayzer top scored with 46.

Ormskirk drew at Lytham in the Liverpool Competition Premier Division on Saturday, where the hosts elected to bat first and declared after 53 overs on 264–4 with Lancashire's Alex Davies hitting 169 (25x4s and 1x6).

In reply the visitors got off to a fine start through Matt Morgan (79) and Andy Baybutt (68) and at 140–1 were going well.

However the loss of steady wickets down the order meant they eventually fell just short on 248–9 off 55 overs with Johnny Glayzer unbeaten on 40, whilst Richard Openshaw was the pick of the home side's bowlers with 4–55.

Northern remain top of the Premier Division after a five wicket win at Southport & Birkdale, batting first the league leaders recovered from 28–5 to finally declare after 50.4 overs on 220–5, with skipper James Cole hitting an unbeaten 115 and his brother Stephen also unbeaten on 76, with Scott Lees taking 4–41.

In reply S&B were dismissed for 124 with in form Tom Sephton taking 5–32, whilst Shervon Jean (33) and Dean Skelton (20) top scored for the hosts.

Fleetwood Hesketh were beaten at home by 101 runs by Wallasey, the visitors elected to bat and piled up 263–5 dec in 54 overs, with Neil Cross (43), Graham Reid (40), Liam Crilly (38), Greg Beaver (36*), Matt Wilcox (27) and Mark Wilkie (26) all chipping in with valuable runs. In reply the hosts slipped from 70–2 to 162 all out in 32.1 overs with Crilly taking 6–48, whilst Neil Rimmer and Andrew Watts both made 32 and Tommy Wareing finished unbeaten on 29

Maghull won a low scoring contest at Highfield by 14 runs, after batting first Jon Ring (36), Sairaj Patel (30) and Donovan Pell (26) were the mainstays of the visitors 148 total with James Taylor (4–11) and Andrea Agathangelou (4–31) the pick of Highfield's attack. In reply the hosts looked to cruising at 95–5, but some fine bowling from Jack Snowden (5–43) and Chris Tonge (3–21) then turned the game around as Highfield were bowled out for 133 with skipper Michael Farrell (38) top scoring.

Bolton visit to start United's pre–season

SKELMERSDALE begin their pre–season programme tonight (Wednesday 7.45pm kick–off) with a game at the West Lancashire College Stadium against Bolton Wanderers.

Skem entertain Southport next Tuesday, July 23 and AFC Telford United on Saturday, July 27 and the 'big one' when Manchester United send eleven of their most promising youngsters to the West Lancashire College Stadium on Tuesday, July 30, when a big gate is expected.

Burscough go down by 4 wickets

BURSCOUGH went down at home by four wickets in their Second Division match against against St Helens. The hosts hit 243–3 dec in 41.1 overs, thanks to a blistering 161 from skipper Lee Berrie and a more defiant 53 from keeper Mike Bimpson. In reply the visitors then reached 244–6 in 55.4 overs to clinch victory thanks to 140 from Craig Woods and an unbeaten 43 from Stuart Lyon.

• Burscough Cricket Club will be hosting a Lancashire versus Warwickshire junior cricket match tomorrow (Thursday) with a noon start.

Skem debutant wrecks Sutton with 7 wicket haul

MOHAMMED Rehan had a superb debut for Skelmersdale on Saturday against Sutton (St Helens). Batting first, Sutton got off to a decent start but then Skem introduced their spin attack of Hasnain Abbas and Rehan. The debutant had an amazing game taking seven wickets for 22 runs from an 11 over spell. It resulted in Sutton being dismissed for 119.

In reply Skem openers Jonas Smith (19) and fellow–opener Rehan (35) put them on the road to victory. Ben Maddocks played a steady innings, scoring 23, although Abbas went cheaply, out LBW for 4. Mitchell Clarke (25) and Peter Wylie (10) saw Skem to a six–wicket victory.
